Paddy Walsh is a well known public character around the City Hall and Court House, was once a member of a Tammany "comittee," and but for a alight impediment in his speech would no doubt be as ploquent on the hustings as he is profound in states. manship. He had been of tate years engaged in promoting cleaniness and warmth in some of the public pilices and courts as circumstances might require, and occasionally turning light on their proceedings; but recently some other person had supplanted him in the performance of those important duties, and, whether rightfully or wrongfully, Paddy attributed the change to the unfriendly influence of Alderman Thomas Shells. About the ides of March last Paddy and the Alderman happened to meet in the Mayor's office, on which becarion, in the hearing of divers public officials and others, Paddy says the Alderman used toward him language as follows:--. You are a loafer and a swind-ler. You swindled me out of $5, and you are worse than a swindler." For this alleged slander Paddy brought suit through his attornoys, Messrs. McGill and Martzoff, to recover $2,000 damages from the Alderman. The case was called for trial in Part 1 of the Marine Court, before Chief Justice Alker and a jury, yesterday, and the occasion brought together an unusual display of Aldermen, ex-Aldermen and public officials generally, many of whom were under subpena as witnesses, including Mayor Ely, County Clerk Gumbiston, the Deputy Commissioner of the Board of Public Works, and Mary, the Corporation apple woman, who for thirty years has held municipal office against all comers. The defence was a general densal. Immediately upon the jury being sworn in Mr. J. H. McCarthy, counsel for the defendant, moved to dismiss the complaint on the ground that it did not state facts rufficient to constitute a cause of action, in that it alleged words which were not in themselves actionable without alleging facts showing that special camage had resulted to plaintiff by reason of their utterance. Counsel, to sustain his motion, cited authorities to the effect that to call a man a swindler did not necessarily impute to him acrime for which he could be criminally punished. Opposing decisions were cited by counsel for the plaintiff, but the Court held that under the latest authorities the words complained of were not actionable in not alleging special damages. The Court was therefore congelied to dismiss the present complaint, but stated to plaintiff that he was at liberty to renew his action on a complaint containing facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. Then arose the question of costs, counsel for the plaintiff diaming that his client having been permitted to prosecute under the Pauper act no costs could be granted against him. On this point it was asserted by deiendant's counsel that all the costs that plaintiff had been relieved from by the order of the Court was jury feez. Alderman Sheels cut this part of the discussion short by waiving all costs, and then filed out of court a long procession of municipal officials and legislators, while Paday, still undermayed, though temporarily deleased, looked on, tranquil in t derman. The case was called for trial in Part I of the Marine Court, before Chief Justice Alker and a jury,

RELIC OF THE CIVIL WAR.

A somewhat interesting case, involving the right to condems bank stock for alleged disloyalty, was argued yesterday, on appeal, in the Supreme Court, General Term. The action is one brought by Verona S. M. Chapman against the Phonix National Bank, of this city, to recover eighty-tour shares of the stock of the old Phoenix Bank, which has since become merged in the defendant. In 1864, the plaintiff, who was then unmarried, bought 150 shares of the stock, but afterward sold some of the shares, leaving eighty-four shares in her hands, for which the bank issued their certificate in her then name of Verona S. Moore, thus recognizing her as the owner of the stock, and which, she says, she has owned down to the present time. In 1861 she was married to the Rev. Robert H. Chapman, D. B., and has ever since continued to be his wife. During the late civil war she resided, atthough loyal to the Union government, in the Southern States, and necessarily was cut off from all communication with the North. In 1864 proceedings were taken here in the United States District Court for the condemnation of the eighty-four shares of stock on account of alleged offences on the part of the plantiff, consisting of the supposed using of such stock in aid of the rebellion and committing various other hostile and disloyal sots. These proceedings were taken under the act of Congress passed August 6, 1861, with reference to property used in aid of the rebellion, and of July 17, 1862, in reference to the condemnation of property of persons encayed in certain hostile asks against in 1862, in reference to the condemnation of property of persons engaged in certain hostile acts against the United States government. Previous to these proceedings a letter was written by the District Attorney te the United States Marshal directing him to seize the stock, and also a certain other letter written by the Marshal to the president of the Phenix Stank notifying him of such supposed seizure. Thereupon a libel was filed, the stock condemned and sold, and one-half of the proceeds given to the informer. The plaintiff brought suit to recover her dividends from 1861 to 1870. On the trial before Judge Speir her complaint was dismissed. She appeared on numerous exceptions, and the case was argued yesterday at considerable length. After hearing the argument the Court took the papers, reserving its decision.

KILLED WITH A MATCHBOX. The trial of Valentine Brumbauer, a baker, at Union Hill, for the killing of Gustave Koch, proprietor of the lager beer saloon at No. 326 Eighth street, on the evening of the 9th of March last, was con menced yesterday in the Court of General Sessions, Part I, before Recorder Hackett. Assistant Distric Attorney Lyon appeared for the prosecution and Mr. A. H. Hummel for the accused. On the evening in question Brumbauer and other friends entered Koch's premises, where they commenced to drink beer and play cards. Kech sat at the table pear the door of the saloon. A witness named Blumgart saw Kech spring from his seat and heard him exclaim, "For God's sake, why did you strike nac? What have I done to you?" He had been struck on the temple with a stone china match-holder, and the blood streamed profusely from the wound. A witness named Streom testifies that Koch then seized Brumbauer with his left hand and struck him with his right. From the testimenty of August, a son of the deceased, it appeared that went the parties entered the saloon they were received cordinally, being old Frienas. His states Jokingly stroked the right side of Brumbauer's lace, which, nowever, the latter resented. Koch repeated this net, whereapon Brumbauer seized the match bolder and struck him. Dr. Rome said that when he was called on to attend Koon, three days after the wound had been received, erysipelas had set in, and that he died on the 14th of March. A witness named George Grop, from Faterson, who was present at the occurrence, testified that Brumbauer ame to this city on March 9 to attend a funeral, and that when they were spoken between Brumbauer and the deceased, when the latter struck the former upon the nose. At this stage of the proceedings the son of the deceased shouted out to the witness, "You lie; why do you tell this lie?" The officers quicted the young man and the trial proceeded. The witness turther testified that blow on the emple. The prisoner, is his you behalf, corroborated the testimony of the prebeer and play cards. Koch sat at the table near the REVOKING GIFTS IN TRUST. A question of considerable legal interest as to the right to revoke a gift in trust was argued at considerable length yesterday in the Sapreme Court, General In 1873, when the late Henry E. Meigs and his brother, Joseph J. Meigs, were targely engaged in railroad contracts in Pennsylvania, the latter sent instructions to Joseph S. Splaney, his special agent here to buy $100,060 government bonds and give the same to J. B. & J. M. Cornell, in trust for his (Meige') chilto J. B. & J. M. Cornell, in trust for his (Meige) children, and charge the same to his general account. On the same date he wrote a private noise to spinney, a portion of which was as follows:—"Things look test a sittle dusty here, owing to a fight between the government and Dreyiuss, by which the loan is for the moment postpoued, and to prepare myself for the worst I have used my power of attorney to ask you to purchase $100,000 bonds for the cubs if things come to a regular break." Spinney purchased the bonds, as requested, placed them in the hands of the Measrs. Cornell sna took their receipt, such receipt stating that the bonds were beld in trust for the children of Joseph G. Meige. Subsequently Mr. Meige wrote to Messrs. Cornell to things the bonds to registered bonds, and bold them in trust for himself. Upon consulting counsel the Measrs. Cornell refused to do this, owing to the Measrs. Cornell refused to do this, owing to the Measrs of the receipt they had given. A suit was then brought by Meigs against the Measrs. Cornel, and Mr. Spinney, in which was impleaded the children of Meigs to compel the surrender of the bonds to him. A referee appointed to investigate the case reported in lavor of Mr. Meigs, from which report an appeal was taken to the General Term by Mr. William Mitchell, Jr., guardian ad litem for the children of the California and International contents of the California and the mother than the case reported in lavor of Mr. Meigs, from which report an appeal was taken to the General Term by Mr.

dree. On the one hand it is claimed that the bonds were never intended as a gift to the children, and on the other that all the lasts connected with it show that it was a gift, and that as such gift it is irrevocable. The Court took the papers, reserving its decision.

AN INDEFINITE VERDICT.

A woman, admitted to have kept a house of doubt ful repute in Twenty-seventh street some time since, became indebted to her greeer in an amount for which he brought suit and recovered judgment. The Sheriff seized under execution some parior furniture to the ownership of which Jacob Goldfarb made claim. This claim was disputed by the judgment creditor, who gave a bond to Sheriff Brennan to in-domnify him in seiling the property, and then fol-lowed a suit by Goldiarb sgainst the Sheriff to recover lowed a suit by Goldiarb sgainst the Sheriff to recover $500, as the value of the property so soid. This suit has just been tried before Judge Simott and a jury in Part 3 of the Marine Court, Mr. J. P. Solomon representing the plaintiff, and Vanderpoel, Green & Cumming the Sheriff. Contradictory proof was offered on the plaintiff, and the ownership of the property, it being insisted on the part of plaintiff that he soid the furniture to the judgment debtor upon instanding more of which were ever paid, and that he was not to part with the ownership until all were paid, while on the part of the Sheriff testimony was given to the effect that the judgment debtor had the furniture before the date at which the plaintiff chaimed he soid it to her. In charging the jury Judge Simbott instructed them among other things that if they should find in favor of the plaintiff their verdict would be for $500. Yesterday morning the jury handed in a scaled verdict, in which they stated they lound in favor of the plaintiff, but without naming any amount. This indefiniteness was supposed to arise from an impression on the part of the jury that if they found for plaintiff the amount would be fixed by the Court at $600. This error, however, could not be corrected, and involved the necessity of the Court setting asside the verdict and ordering a new trial for Tuesday next.

YOUNG MEN'S CENTENNIAL CLUB. Thomas K. Philbin, as president of the Young Men's Centennial Club, recently brought a suit in the Court of Common Pleas against James Eagen. As set forth in the complaint, Eagen, while he was treasured of the club, appropriated the funds and property of the association, and took Terrace Garden, in Fifty. eighth street, as was supposed, for a performance ic eighth street, as was supposed, for a performance for the benefit of the club, but in fact for a new hostilled and seceding club, and by so doing deprived the plaintiffs of the benefit of the use of the garden on the selected day. The plaintiffs therefore ask that the defendant be compelled to hand over the funds of the club in his hands, as also the receipt books, and that meantime a receiver be appointed pending the intigation. Upon the state of facts thus set forth Judge Larremore appended a receiver, and from this order as appeal was taken to the Common Pleas, General Term, where the case was argued yesterday at considerable length. It was claimed for the appellants that the Court had no power to make such appendent, while on the other hand it was contended that such order was proper and necessary for the plaintiffs' protection. After hearing the argument the Court at once affirmed the order of the Court below.

ATALANTAS AT LAW.

There was tried before Judge Goepp and a jury, in Part 3 of the Marine Court, yesterday, a suit presenting the peculiar leatures of the subject matter of the dispute, the parties to the action, their respective counsel and all the witnesses belonging to the Atalanta Boat Club. The suit was brought by Alden S. Swan to Boat Club. The suit was brought by Alden S. Swan to recover from Eben Losee $200; one-half of which was claimed by plaintiff to have been advanced to build a boat used by both parties in the Philadelphia regatta of 1876, and the other half advanced to purchase a stake to be rowed for between Rosch and the defendant. The defendant claimed an offset for the full amount, growing out of expenses in Philadelphia for which he insisted plaintiff was alone liable, and also set up that $100 of the amount could not be recovered in any event, as it was advanced to purchase a stake to be rowed for, and therefore contrary to law. The Court charged the amount for the stake to have been contrary to law, and the claims for expenses made by defendant the jury allowed in part. After making deductions for such expenses a verdict was rendered for plaintiff or $33 45. The counsel for plaintiff was Mr. J. E. Eustis, stroke our, and for the defendant, Mr. Edward C. Ripley, vice president of the club.

A NOVEL DEFENCE.

Thomas S. Nelson, in his complaint in a suit brought gainst the New York and Hartford Railroad Com pany, states that on the 26th of November, 1864, he was a passenger on one of defendant's cars and was being conveyed to New York from a distant place and had paid his fare as required. After the train had had paid his fare as required. After the train had reached New York, and in switching off at the Grand Central Depot, the car, as plaintiff says, was so negligently managed that he was knocked against a mirror in the wasbroom and sustained such serious injuries that he has been ever since an invalid, and believes that he will be disabled for life. He sues the company for $25,000. The trail of the case was commenced yesterday before Judge Van Hoesen, in the Court of Common Pieas. The defence is that the company only bargained to take him safely as far as New York, which they did, and that they were not hable for any injuries received after his arrival at the Grand Central Depot, alleging that the depot master was the only responsible party.

BLOWING AGAINST ODDS

A suit illustrating to some extent the prevaling Common Pleas yesterday on an order for the examination in supplementary proceedings of Levy, the colobrated cornet player. The suit in which Mr. Levy was called upon to disclose his private income was brought in 1875 by Maria Salvoitti, whose voice was so frequently heard in Gitmore's Gardon in subsequent years. She complained against Mr. Levy that he railed to pay her for five concerts for which he had engaged her to sing, and on the trial she obtained a judgment for $154 10, which still remains ansatisfied. In 1876 the plaintiff had the defendant brought up for contempt in refusing to obey an order for his examination. This proceeding was withdrawn, however, on his consenting to be examined at once. On that examination he restified that he was worth nothing and that all he carned went to pay his creditors. On his examination yesterday he made similar statements, and, in answer to interrogatories, said that his share of the profits of the concert at the Grand Opera House on hast Sunday evening went to pay borrowed money contracted before his departure for Australia.

THE NOYES TRIAL.

Ex-Governor Joel Parker, receiver for the New Jorsey Mutual Insurance Company, took the stand again yesterday and went over the list of assets item by item, and concluded by saying that they were, altogether, worth vory little, only a lew thousands. So far as witness knew Noyes had never received any far as witness knew Noyes had never received any assets more than he turned over to the receiver. Witness said his reasons for supposing that Noyes had not returned all the assets was that the company's reports snowed a large number of mortgages; that it was stated that Noyes received all the mortgages; that Noyes told him that the assets amounted to $1,629,000, and that he received so lew mortgages.

The next witness called by the State was Mr. D. P. Fackler, at one time secretary of the Mutual and now engaged in the insurance business in New York as an expert, &c. He testified that in 1876 and 1887 he examined the New Jorsey Mutual, the company then appearing to have 10,836 poneies, amounting to $19,801,653; the reserve land required was $1,607,017 to make the policies good.

appearing to have 10,833 policies, amounting to $18,801,605; the reservo into required was $1,607,017 to make the policies good.

After a stort recess Mr. Fackler testined that he found in his examination $62,000 unpaid death claims; got number of policies in force from the secretary; so lar as I could discover there were no death claims in December reported; as an examiner I was not established; thought it hardly credible that a company with nearly $20,000,000 maks could go a month without a loss from death; there was a reported debt due to Daniel J. Noyes of $47,000 for money leaned; debts due J. Annerson and others about $10,000; made total liabilities $1,630,000 in the first statement and $1,827,000 in the second statement; made an estimate of the highest value of austes at $1,205,500; found government bonus of a market value of $100,000 in lace value of $130,000; estimated the highest value of the Louisman, Virginia and New York Sinte bonds at $35,000; the cash on hand and in process of delivery was about $16,000; was shown mortgages and certificates for mortgages for $373,800, ince value. Witness had no personal knowledge of the condition or history of the National Capitor Insurance Company; only knew of it trom general rumor.

The Witness was still on the stand when the Court adjourned for the day.

DRUGGED AND ROBBED.

James Meenan, of No. 349 Eighth avenue, yesteryoung woman, twenty-four years of age, who resides at No 104 Greenwich street, and who for some time has been leading snything but a model life. There was an associate of hers, a woman named Mary Bickle, with whom she was in company on the 34 of Bickle, with whom she was in company on the 34 of last January, when they met the complainant. He had been drinking considerably, and when they invited him into a house on Seventh avenue be willingly joined them and continued to indulge in strong beverages till he became stupefied. That his loss of his somes was accelerated by some drug be suspects, though is not positive. In any event when he awoke he found that his waten, valued at $125, and $35 in money had been taken from his pocket. Mary was arrested some time since for the offence, but escaped conviction. She was, however, rearrested yesterday and held as a witness against Sarab, who was committed in $500 to answer.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE.

The attention of the County Court, Judge Moore, Brooklyn, was occupied yesterday in the trial of a case in which much interest was manifested by number of lashionably attired people, among whom were several of the fair sex. The plaintiff in the case was Mrs. Cornella A. Law, who sued Adrian A. Sea man, to recover $192 50, which was claimed for the rent of rooms at No. 40 South Oxford street, the rent of rooms at No. 40 South Oxford street, Brooklyn. In October the defendant, who is a director of the Lafayette Fire Inserance Company, went with his wife to board at the house of the pisintiff. They remained at the boarding house one week only, when they took their departure. It was claimed by the plaintiff that the departure, It was claimed by the plaintiff that the departure, It was claimed by the plaintiff that the departure, It was claimed by the plaintiff that the departure, It was claimed by the plaintiff that the departure is a standard to the partitional own in the partition of the partition of

HEAVY DAMAGES.

The English steamship British America and the American brig Carrie Winslow collided on the high seas tu 1876 and the latter vessel was sunk. Her owner, George R. Churchill, brought a suit against the stoamer for $201,000 damages in the United States Court of the Southern District. As the amount sued for was said to exceed the value of the steamer the desendants made application to Judge Benedict, of the United States Eastern District Court, for an injunction restraining the pisinitif, should be gain the sait, from suing them for any deficiency. The desired and the said of the injunction on the ground that they were subjects of Great Britain and non-residents of this country. HONORABLY DISCHARGED.

Sefor De Charlatta, the Spaniard, who was arrested on the 23d of March last at the instance of Mr. Dutcher, of Sixty-second street and Eleventh avenue. who charged him with obtaining money under false pretences, was yesterday honorably discharged by pretences, was yesterday honorably discharged by Judge Gildersleev. The evidence insied to show that in sering loop teekets for an entertainment that was intended to come off on the 22d of March, but which did not come off, the sector sold them with the intent to defraud. On the contrary, Mr. De Charlatta claims that having been taken sick he was obliged to defer the entertainment this the 27th, and that he sent letters notifying perchasers of teekets to that effect. Sefor de Gharlatta also contends that he sent Mr. Dutcher a letter concerning the postponement, and he says that he intends now to bring suit against him

ROBBING HIS MOTHER.

Detective Crowiey, of Police Headquarters, this city, yesterday arrested John Marshal, a young man, on a charge of stealing $100 worth of property from his mother, who resides at No. 212 Sands street, Brooklyn. The alleged robbery was committed on May 6. Too stolen property was recovered by Detec-tive Ruggs in a pawn office, and the accessed was locked up to await examination before Judge Walsh. CONTESTED WILLS.

THE MONEYPENNY WILL CASE BEFORE THE SURBOGATE.

The hearing in the contested will case of Robert Moneypenny was continued yesterday afternoon be-tore Surrogate Caivin. Robert May, William Webb, Austin Leake and Jacob Mohrman were examined for the contestants and testified regarding the general nabits of the testator, and said that he was so frequently intoxicated as to become unable to attend to its business. This closed the case for the contestants.

Mary Ann Chitery, of Owego, said she was a sistent of the widow of the deceased and that she had visited at his house two years ago last August, that she was there for six weeks and that she never saw him under the influence of liquor and that he was at all times capable of attending to his business. John Suyder, a man eighty years of age, who had known the testator since he was a young man, gave known the testator since he was a young man, gave similar evidence.

Ciars E. Chitery testified that she visited at the house of the testator for fourteen weeks, two years ago has a lugus, and that he was then perfectly sober. She said that she was present when the testator burned a will in which there was $1,000 given to young Mr. Dinsmore, a nephew of the testator; as hearify as she could remember, it was in the month of September of the year she visited the testator. She said that immediately siterward Mr. Monoppenny dictated the terms of another will to Mr. Thomas Hrenner, and that a will was then drawn and executed that night, and that this will was the will now before the Court.

Court.

Mr. Gardner Chapman, treasurer of the Union Dime Savings Bank, and that he had known the testator for twenty years, and testified to an excellent business habits and to his transactions with the bank, and that, up to the time of his death, the testator had been perfectly correct in his transactions with the bank, and understood perfectly what he was doing. The evidence in the case was then closed and the summing up was adjoorned until the loth of July. In the cross-examination of one or two witnesses an allusion was made to a Mrs. Worcester having provided Mrs. Moneypenny with a bady—her present daughter—but the witnesses said they were ignorant of any such transaction.

THE DICKIE WILL. Testimony was also heard by Surrogate Calvin in the contested will case of Patrick Dickie. The examation of Mrs. Holen D. Adams was continued from the previous day. She testified as to the careless manner in which her father kept his papers in 1874, and that previously he had been very precise and careful; he was in the habit of giving winners presents, but in 1870 he gave her nothing, assigning as a reason that he was very poor; in 1874 she examined her father's wardrobe and tound him destitute of necessary clothing; on another occasion she and her children went to visit him and tound it impossible to remain, as her father had sold the bed and bedding; in June, 1874, Mrs. Adams first heard of a lawyer named Dawson; she saw him at her father's house; she told her father that she had heard that he had given to Mr. Dawson an order upon Mr. Woodruff to deliver up his cuttre property to the care of Mr. Dawson; her father did not deny the allegation.

After a short cross-examination the nearing was adjourned until Friday morning, at eleven o'cock.

TRADE AND TRANSPORTATION.

BAILROADS CLAIMING THE BIGHT OF EMINENT DOMAIN-RESTORATION OF THE CANAL TRAFFIC. A meeting of the Board of Trade and Transportation was held yesterday afternoon, at which Captain Ambrose Snow presided. Mr. Thurber, Chairman of the Executive Committee, offered the following preamble and resolutions, which chered the following preamble and resolutions, which were concurred in by the Board;—

Whereas application has been made to the courts by the New York Central and fluden fiver flailroad Company, under the right of eminent domain, to acquire certain land along the water front on the North River between Sixty-fifth and Seventy-second streets; and whereas it is alliged that this land is needed for depots storage, ac., ac.; therefore inged that this laud is needed for depots, storago, sto., &c.; therefore Resolved, That is the opinion of this Board it is so the interest of New York city that the railroads centring at this port should be allowed to acquire the space necessary for the convenient and economical transaction of their business, but that said roads should be required to own those facilities thomselves and not simply use the into depote their revenues by forming. Credit Mobilion organizations for the purpose of fitting the pockets of their officers at the expense of the public.

It mostwel, it hat the Albany bridges, the Morchante' Departs in the strength Line, the Moseyard Company, the Elevator Company, the River and Harbor Fransportation Company and other similar institutions which are not component parts of the New York Contral and Huston River Railroad, and which are estimated to yield a profit of upward or $5,000,000 annusity to their owners, about, both the literest of the public and the stockholders of said railroad, he acquired by said road; and that the same principle should obtain in the management of all other railroads.

Mr. Simon Storne, chairman of the Legislative Comrailroad, be acquired by said road; and that the same principle should obtain in the management of all other railroads.

Mr. Simon Storne, chairman of the Legislative Committee, inside known his regrets that the bill before the Legislature to establish a railroad commission, similar to that of Massachusetts, had failed to pass, having been reported the committee had been suppressed, although agreed upon in their rooms fully seven weeks ago. Had the matter been acted upon then in the Legislature the fact would have induced those interested in the measure to take action in another direction. But three days before the adjournment nothing could be cone in the turmon of the Legislature's adjournment.

Mr. A. B. Miller, chairman of the Capal Committee, read an address showing that the so-called railroad war had been the means of roducing the boatmen and boat owners to the extreme edge of bankrupicy. All the boats were heavily mortgaged and the owners in debt. The business became so singhant that since the existence of the canals a year passed without the building of a single boat. As the canals left into disses the acquaistomed business of time tilly and state was being rapidly diverted by railroad discriminations to other Atlantic States and cities, and there was just cause to loar that, with the destruction of the plant of the canal, that is, boats, borses and equipment.

being rapidly diverted by railroad discriminations to other Annatic States and cities, and there was just cause to fear that, with the destruction of the plant of the canal, that is, boats, horses and equipments, amousting to no loss than $26,000,000, the canals would be practically if not wholly abandoned and commerce receive an irreparable injury. Mr. Miller continued:—"The wise action of the Causi Board and Legislature during the session of 1877, however, by reducing the toll, has again stimulated canal traffic and future commercial prosperity by this means is now reassurred. The Board of Traue and Transportation may claim the credit of being instrumental in bringing this great subject boore the Legislature, seconded by the attorney of the Boat Owners' Association."

Mr. Browning and Colonel Faulkner also addressed the Board on the canal question, after which the session was adjourned.

STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE.

The semi-annual meeting of the Stationers' Board of Trade was held yesterday at their new rooms, Nos. 97 and 99 Nassau street. Mr. Willy Wallach, the president, called the meeting to order, and Mr. Charles H.

dent, called the meeting to order, and Mr. Charles H. Hunter, the secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved.

Mr. Wallach welcomed the members to their new offices, and contended that they proved the increasing prosperity of the organization. They were not as yet an incorporated body, but an act had ocen introduced in the Legislature to make boards of trade incorporated. The business of last year was larger than at any time since the organization. Much of it was compined and required attention and time.

Mr. Georse L. Pease, chairman of the Finance Committee, reported that in the past six months the organization has increased in stength and number.

I he Treasurer, Mr. Winiam J. M. riin, reported that from November 14, 1877, to May 14, 1878, the receipts were $5,021.05, and the distourcements $4,509.47.

The Secretary's report likes the amount received from members at $3,087.50.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

The new Governing Committee of the Stock Exchange met yesterday and reappointed the two committee appointed for the purpose made their report on the standing committees for the year, and their names will be announced to-day from the res-trum of the Exchange.

UNDERVALUATION OF IMPORTS.

Last March Secretary Suerman appointed a comnission of special agents and highly eminent merchants of the leading eftics to inquire into the numerous complaints made by merchants against importers for undervaluing their goods imported into in various places, and at length proposes to finish its labors by making a thorough investigation into the sliegatious as far as New York importers are con-

the allegatious as far as New York importers are con-cerned.
Yesterday morning the gentlemen of the com-mission arrived in this city and a number of them called upon Collector Arthur, who had been apprised of their coming by the secretary of the Freasury, The commission consists of General L. H. Mercauth, General Appraiser of Philadelphia, charman; Special Agents N. W. Bingham, of Boston, and D. H. Hinds, of Cheago; Meastr, W. R. Hodges, Batti-more; W. A. Droun, Pultwelphis; Philo S. Shelion, Boston, representing the sugar interest; L. Z. Letter, Cheago; Rugh McKittrick, of Grow, Hagadorn & Co., Cheansis John R. Michiel, of John Shilling & Co., Cheannat, and Mr. E. S. Jaffray, of this city, who, however, declines to serve.

Cincinnati, and Mr. E. S. Jaffray, of this city, who, however, declines to serve.

In the course of their investigation the commission will enter at once into an inquiry of the lasts consected with the kid giove trace, of which so much has lately appeared in the Hanalis. Very large importations of this article are now held in bone all over the United States under an order of Socretary Sherman not to clear thom at custom houses until further orders. The undervaluations of sites will also claim the attention of the commission, and their labors will probably occupy considerable time.

CORONERS' NOTES.

Thomas Nolan, aged thirty-five years, died sudlenly yesterday at No. 187 Spring street.

Witham Brennan, a watchmae, had his foot crushed, April 9, by being run over by a railroad train at Fifty. sixth street and Eleventh avenue. He was re-moved to Roosevelt Hospital for surgical treatment, where he died yesterday. REV. MR. VOSBURGH.

The Developments Yesterday in His Trial at Jersey City.

DR. CORNELL CROSS-EXAMINED.

His Start'ing Narration of the Pastor's Alleged Crime.

The trial of Rev. George B. Vosburgh, paster of the Bergen Baptist Church, for the alleged attempted olsoning of his wife, was resumed yesterday in the Budson County Court of Over and Terminer, at Jerfully as large as on the previous day, the inclement weather having no effect whatever on the attendance noon Judge Dixon, of the Passaie Circuit Court, occupled a sent on the bench between Judges Knapp and Quarfe. Around the counsellors' table were scated Surgeon General Varick, Dr. Carpenter, Dr. L. J.

CROSS-EXAMINATION OF UR. CORNELL.

At the opening of the court Dr. George B. Cornel took the stand, and after a few questions direct his cross-examination was begun by ex-Senator Winfield. once added Dana to my name; that was while I was at the Madison University; I entered the academic course of the university in 1859; students do not graduate from the university; the term is two years; of the term; I entered anticipating the ministry, intending to go through college and probably theology; I left because I changed my mind about entering a profession; that was the only York University after I left Madfaon; I studied with a preceptor, Dr. Maberry, of Massachusotts, a practidoner of the old school; I did not graduate until 1864: then I went to South America; I went to Norwalk on my return, and left there to become a homeopath; I came to Jersey City about cleven years ago.

The witness then explained the homocopathic system of medicine. The counsel asked the different

The witness then explained the homogopathic system of medicine. The counsel asked the different days when he changed the medicines, and what the changes were? The witness replied that he had no record, and Constable Foley was despatched by the Court ton his residence to get his note book.

The Court then took a recess. A large portion of the people in the court room retained their seats in court during the recess and the seats vacated by those who went to dinner were specify occupied and retained by the persons who were kept standing during the morning seasion.

THE REMEDIES USED.

The cross-examination of Dr. Cornell was continued after recess, when he testified as follows:—I am as certain as any physician can be that calcaria carbonics was administered with the other medicines; I administered no remedy that could be called a sadorifie; a sudorifie I would give to induce sleep, but none to southe the nerves; I do not think a su-torifie is meant to produce a sleep; finding the patient's skin in a dry and scally condition would not suggest to me to pre-scribe a sudorifie.

Counsel—then you change your mind about giving a sudorific to induce sleep do you? A. I do; on the nights of 19th, 20th and Zint the patient was sleeplons—arrais to sleep for foar sine would become unconscious; I do not remember saying to Deacon Este at the meeting at Mayor Seidler's that there is an oil one drop of which, If placed on the lays, would kill; I know of such an oil; I never spoke of it to Mrs. Vospurgh; I know not how it came to her knowledge; I told Mr. Sickles to guard his sister, and "let her receive nothing unless prepared by yourself or your wife;" I never told any one to tell Mrs. Vosburgh to leave her husband, and that he would be obliged to support her; I cannot tell the date I changed the prescriptions; not within a month; I do not wish to give stimates under oath; I prescribed seven decilionths of one drop of creasote in a glass of water; it is utterly impossible to tell by any system the amount of creasote of bulk; we did ask him.

A PUZZLING CASE.

The witness then continued:—I do not remember what I saked or his answer either; antimony is a mineral, nux vomica is a vegetable; I gave the cree-son to relieve the liver; the bile is conveyed from the liver, where it generates, to the stomach by the common viaduct of the liver; I cannot ted now long after I begue my visits that the patient took to her bed; the bile is forced into the stomach by strain or vomiting; I discoutinued administering cod liver oil because Mrs. Mainon and Mrs. Sickles asked me if there was any benefit in it, and I saw that emaciation continued rapidly and I said I believed there was no hope of curing the patient; the case of the my sho became worse from an early part of my summistration and I because discouraged and hopeless; after discontinuing the oil I had but I this nope and irequently none; I producted her death mere than once; how many more I cannot ted; either three or lour times; I do not know that the patient was up every day. A PUZZLING CASE on the night of the 19th I first suspected that anti-mony was being used to make her vennt; I was told by Mr. Sickles that night of his auspicions; when he told me I told him that his sister night die during the night; "if she did I could not give a certificate; that she must bess into the bands of the Caroner." I said mony was being used to make her vomit; I was told by Mr. Sieckes that night of his suspicions; when he told me I told him that his sister night the during the night; "Il she did I could not give a certificate; that she must pass into the hands of the Coroner;" I said, "Guard the bedside and let her receive nothing except what is prepared by yourself or your wile; let Mr. Vosburgh continue to prepare the tea and mixtures and save them; II your mistor is alive to-morrow I will do my best to oring her back;" this conversation took place on the front stoop; I could not sleep that bight; I prescribed injections of warm mirk; she did not vomit at all alter they occased giving ner sir. Vosburgh's medicines; prescribed nux vomica and beliadonna to allay irritation, and I believed prepared the patient's stomach to retain lood; never knew the patient to suffer from hysteria.

Q. is hysteria a protean disease? A. I never knew hysteria to imitate other diseases.

DR. CORNEL'S PLEA.

I remember speaking with Dearon Este en a forry-boat, at which time he said to me, "Cornell, you knew down in your heart that Vosburgh never put that poison there," and also, "Why you of Sickles could have put it there;" I answered, "Do you think I am a flend?" and he said, "Weil, that's just what you are accusing Vosburgh of being;" I do not renomber saying that which I had done I had done under the guidance of the floy Gnost; I made several efforts to keep the affair quiet; I never said that if Vosburgh would keep quiet I would; I never said that the Lord had enlarged Sickles' vision, while he looked through the key hele while Vosburgh was at the medianne; I dicated the letter rent by archive to Dencon Miller, that, if our suspicions had any found aton, the church might know it.

Counsel—Why, it you had, as you say, your suspicions, did you not go to a civil magistrate.

Witness—Because there is in the Baptist code a rule forbidding one member of the church from going to law with anoner; I and a Prescyterias; I do not think the rule applies t
